some other games, but there was nothing in Dartmouth, I suggested to the "main works" that we hike over to the Gazette office and pick up the Dartmouth-Vermont score off the Associated Press wire. So we ambled over to the newspaper office. About everything in the world was in but the Dartmouth game. "Hump," mused Doctor Spears, "must be something wrong that the score is so late getting in." The news editor of the Gazette courteously sent a message to the Pittsburgh office to rush the Dartmouth score. About ten minutes later it came thusly:

Vermont 6, Dartmouth 3.
Doctor Spears gave the score one swift glance, gave his belt a healthy jerk and hustled out of the office. Saturday was a wonderful day.

"Wonder if Deek got loose?" was the only comment Doctor Spears made on the result.
A Busy Day
The busiest guy I saw during the game at Charleston Saturday was a bird from Cabell County. Every few minutes he would come running up to poor old Adam with a flock of questions that would make a Philadelphia lawyer jealous. Among the questions that he asked at least five times and which Adam answered carefully were:

"Isn't Eckberg a wonder?"
"How did he get to West Virginia?"
"What do you think of Wash-Lee?"
"Is Spears going to California next year?"
"Why don't you say 'something'?"

Big Soccer Game
J. Curran of Mona, W. Va., near Morgantown, dropped into the office yesterday afternoon to tell us that there would be a big soccer game down there this Sunday between Morgantown and Wheeling in the first round for the West Penn Association trophy. He is interested in getting up a soccer league in the Monongahela Valley starting at Fairmont and running to Connellsville. He wants to sound out the fans in this city in the matter. There are a number of soccer fans around here and it might be possible to get a good team together. If anyone is interested in the proposition, they could get in touch with J. Curran, P. O. Box 72, Mona, W. Va. The Pittsburgh Press has offered a trophy and medals if the proposed league goes through.

Keeps Men Quiet
MORGANTOWN, Oct. 25.—Foster Sanford, Rutgers college football coach, is taking no chances of having his young men who will wear the Scarlet letters against West Virginia Saturday, losing sight of the fact that the main purpose of the visit to the Mountains of West Virginia is to beat "Fat" Spears' Mountaineer football team.
With this in mind the old Yale football player has arranged for his eleven to spend the night at Fairmont on Friday, getting into the excited atmosphere of Morgantown just before lunch on Saturday, and having a quiet workout at old South Side Park on Friday.

There are many here who believe that if this policy had been followed in connection with the recent visit of the Mountaineers to Charleston, the results might have been better. In any event Sanford seems to think it is wise to keep his team away from the fraternity houses, and the other distractions of University student life on Friday night, and then, too, he wants no Mountaineer players and coaches peering at his practice rehearsal.
The sale of tickets for the Rutgers conflict begins here this afternoon. One of the largest crowds that ever assembled to watch the Mountaineers perform at home will be present. It will be the epoch-making Pitt victory. It will mark a change to "get even" for the 17-0 defeat administered by Rutgers a year ago; Rutgers victory over Lehigh by a 14-7 score marks the visitors as a great team. Bethany's victory by a large score over Rutgers gives an opportunity for comparison between the Mountaineers and Bethany and other considerations make Saturday's battle an extremely attractive one.

GREATEST PLAYS
The following play, as told to Chester Smith of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times by Jimmy DeHart, former Pitt star and now coach of Wash-Lee, was the most exciting DeHart ever peeped on a football field:

A football, sailing through the air above a gridiron in Dixieland, late in the fall of 1921, gave Jimmy DeHart, head coach at Washington and Lee University, the thrill which he declares was the greatest he ever experienced.

The ball was thrown by Capt. Jim Robertson of Dartmouth college's eleven. It cut a 50-yard path and fell safely into the arms of Eddie Lynch, dashing right end of the "Big Green Team" from Hanover, who sprinted the 20 yards which separated him from the goal. It gave Dartmouth a 7 to 0 victory over the University of Georgia.

Must Develop Speed
in Action and ThoughtBy AUBREY DEVINE
All-America 1921, Captain Iowa 1921, "Big Ten" Champions.

In preparing himself to make the college team, the high school star must first of all fit himself physically and mentally for the stress and strain of collegiate football.

Physical and mental fitness come first, and with these, as a rule, you may expect to find confidence. In fact, confidence in himself may be said to be included in the players' mental fitness.

Having laid this foundation, the player must develop greater speed than was ever demanded of him in his most strenuous high school combats. He must develop speed not only in action, but in thinking as well, and above all he must school himself to keep his head in the game every minute, during practice as well as in regular games.

Many Are Badly Coached.
The newcomer from high school must remember what the coaches tell him. At college he will find that there are too many men on the squad to allow the coaches time to go around amongst the men night after night, telling each individual the same thing over and over again. Coaches are looking for the men who remember to do as they are told. And right in this connection is where the player's natural aptitude for football, or what is some times called "football" sense," reveals itself. If he has it, the instructions of the coaches will bring it out.

Speed Most Essential.
Assuming that the high school player has met all the requirements above laid down, there yet remain certain other requirements which he must meet before he can expect to make the college team.

The first in weight. A high school star of the first magnitude may be hopelessly barred from success in college football, simply because he lacks the weight necessary to fight on anything like even terms with the men he is known with on the college squad.

I might cite the cases of several men who have come under my personal observation, who have gone to college after making all-state high school teams, and have failed to make good in college through no fault of their own, but simply because they lacked the required weight.

And right here let me say that superior weight is an asset only when the man can handle it. A clumsy big man may be less formidable than a skillful little fellow, but that fact doesn't help the little fellow much because it is not the clumsy big men who make the varsity, but rather the big men who know how to handle themselves.

Eddie Lynch, the other principal is still a member of the Dartmouth varsity.

Reverses Decision
William N. Morice, who was referee in the Columbia-New York University game last Saturday which was won by New York 7 to 6, has reversed his ruling on a touchdown, making it a safety, and the final and official score should be 5 to 3 in favor of Columbia instead of 7 to 6 in favor of New York. The play that caused the confusion was as follows: Columbia was in possession of the ball on her own 10 yard line, and being held was forced to punt. Roderick kicked from his own goal line and the punt was blocked by Bokowitz of the New York University. The ball bounded away into spectators gathered behind the goal posts. There was a general scramble for the ball and when it was over a New York man had the ball it was declared a touchdown and a goal kicked.

The rule under which the referee changed his decision follows:
"A blocked kick, which after being blocked, crosses the kicker's goal line and into the stand or among the spectators, shall count as a safety."

Some of us birds who went to Bethlehem last year for the West Virginia-Lehigh game will remember this Morice fellow quite distinctly. His work was anything but satisfactory in the memorable contest.

Do Much Damage
The circus at the South Side Park last week jammed things up in fine style and left the grounds in such a condition that Frank Lee can hardly work his football men there. Frank took the matter up with the proper authorities last evening, and it was promised that by this afternoon the grounds would be in tip top condition.

SARAZEN BARELY AVERTS
FATAL ACCIDENT IN AUTO

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Gene Sarazen, American golf champion, had a narrow escape from serious injury last night when he made an unsuccessful effort to avoid running down Luke Robinson, an old resident of White Plains.
Sarazen, who was discharged from the hospital nine days ago after a remarkably quick recovery from an appendicitis operation, ran his car into the sidewalk in trying to avoid Robinson, who was knocked down and suffered a fractured skull and several broken ribs. Sarazen was paroled by Coroner Fitzgerald after eye witnesses had described the accident as unavoidable.

The golfer was uninjured, although his machine was damaged slightly.

CHESS CHAMPIONS
SIGN UP FOR MATCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Frank J. Marshall of New York, chess champion of the United States, and Edward Lasker of Chicago, winner of the recent masters tournament, have signed articles of agreement to play a special match of eighteen games for $50,000. Play is to begin in New York on March 15 next, other games of the series to be staged in Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and New Orleans.

Under the rules each player will be entitled to a period of rest not exceeding seven days during the progress of the match.

This Date in History

Life and Character Reading.
OCTOBER 25

The women of this date are excellent cooks and splendid housekeepers. The union of true air and the restless sea makes an unconventional character which is most pleasing to every one. Sometimes the natural Libra fear and hesitation communicate their influence to this cusp and make the native hesitate in a crisis or before a critical surgical operation.

When these people go to extremes, they are very dishonest. Just so long as they follow their own intuitions they will rarely be deceived. When any important subject is involved, they should come to conclusions when entirely alone, as they are more or less subject to the positive mind action of others.

The governing sign of this date is the cusp of Libra-Scorpio. The governing planet is Venus, and the birthstone is an opal.
